DETAILED ACTION

This is in response to application 10/596232 filed on June 5th 2006 in which claims 1-6 are presented for examination.

Status of Claims

Claims 1-6 are pending of which claims 1 and 4 are in independent form.

Claims 1 and 4 are currently objected to.

Claims 1-6 are currently rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112 second paragraph.

Claims 4-6 are currently rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Claims 1-6 are currently rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed 6/5/06 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each cited foreign patent document; each non-patent literature publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Specification

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the phrase "such a" on line 2 is misspelled. Also the term "Fig. 1" following the abstract should be removed. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Objections

1. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: the phrase "such a the Internet" in line two is misspelled, however this language should be eliminated, see the 112 rejection below. The reference number "12)" in line 8 is missing a parenthesis. Appropriate correction is required.
2. Claim 4 is objected to because there is no punctuation after the word "comprises" in line 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
4. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Regarding claims 1 and 4, the phrase "such as" renders the claims indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Art Unit: 2442

5. Claims 1 and 4 recited the term "this one" in the preamble. It is unclear what this term is referring to and therefore this term renders the claims indefinite.
6. Furthermore, Claim 1 recites the limitation "the new address" in line 11. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
7. Claim 2 recites "said new address (redirection)" however this is inconsistent with the language in claim 1 "new address redirection" it is not clear why the term redirection has been placed in parenthesis and therefore the claim is indefinite.
8. Claim 4 recites the limitation "the old point address" in line 11. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
9. Claims 2-3 and 5-6 are rejected based on their dependency.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

10. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Regarding claim 4, it is directed to a system however it does not recite any physical hardware elements. The "checker" as recited by claim 4 can be construed as consisting entirely of software. Since the claim covers an embodiment that is purely software, it is not a "system" and thus it is not patentable subject matter. The system recited is not a particular machine, nor does it perform any particular transformation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

11. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

12. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Butterworth et al. US 2004/0133656 A1 in view of Lewontin US 2005/0071419 A1.

Regarding claim 1, Butterworth discloses "redirecting a request for a web service in a data transmission network" (paragraph 45), "forwarding a request from the client to an old address of said web service" (paragraphs 13, 44), and "forwarding a second request from the client to the new address of said web service" (paragraph 58).

Butterworth does not explicitly disclose "sending back a message wherein the header ... contains the new address" however this is taught by Lewontin as including a web service address in a header (paragraph 44). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Butterworth to include the address passing feature of Lewontin for the purpose of redirecting web service requests. Lewontin suggests that by doing so web services can be provided from mobile devices (paragraphs 9-11).

Regarding claim 2, Butterworth discloses "new address ... is logged by said host" as storing an address in the form of a WSDL file (paragraphs 13-14).

Regarding claim 3, the combination of Butterworth and Lewontin does not explicitly disclose "a SOAP header tag "redirect"", however Butterworth does disclose using SOAP (Fig. 4). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to name a tag redirect. The SOAP specification provides header blocks. Redirecting requests is disclosed by the references. Thus naming a header tag redirect would have been obvious since that is the purpose of the message. This is similar to relaying a SOAP message, when doing so the SOAP specification provides for a header block that is aptly named relay.

Regarding claims 4-6, they are system claims that correspond to the method of claims 1-3 and thus are rejected for similar reasons.

Conclusion

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Mountain et al. US 2004/0128622 A1 discloses publishing the new address of a web service so that it can be accessed.

Knauerhase et al. US 2005/0021663 A1 discloses redirecting web service requests.

Perham et al. US 2005/0050228 A1 discloses using information in the SOAP header to execute a web service.
